CALL FOR NOMINATIONS FOR THE 2006 ANNUAL SCHOOL OF NURSING TEACHING EXCELLENCE AWARD

Nominations are now being sought for the 2006 Annual School of Nursing Teaching Excellence Awards.

The Annual School of Nursing Teaching Excellence Award is given yearly to recognize a UCSF School of Nursing faculty member who has made outstanding contributions to the education of our students. The award exemplifies all aspects of excellence in teaching, and all salaried faculty in any rank and series, are eligible.

The Award consists of a cash gift ($2,500), and a commemorative plaque and medal. The winner will be announced and recognized at the May 25, 2007 Full Faculty meeting.

Application process for this award
Nominations for this Award should be submitted to the Chair of the Teaching Award Review Committee, c/o Dean’s Administrative Assistant Mike Henseler, by 3pm on Thursday March 1, 2007, and should include the following information:

1) Two to three letters of support from peers documenting:
   • Evidence of outstanding contributions to teaching, as illustrated by examples of excellence of mentorship, curricular development, student support, etc.
   • Influence of the nominee on the development and education of students over a period of time, with particular reference to recognition given by students and colleagues.

2) Curriculum vitae and other documentation as appropriate.

All nominations and supporting materials will be held in confidence. Since the Teaching Award Review Committee coordinates the selection process, members of that committee may not submit letters of support or be nominated while serving on the committee.

Award recipients are asked to make a 5-10 minute acceptance presentation upon receiving the award.
