Standing Committee Reports

1. Educational Policy Committee:  Vice Dean Sharon Youmans submitted a draft bylaw revision to Council and led a discussion on the proposed revisions. The proposed revision to the bylaw changes the name of this standing committee to the “Curriculum and Educational Policy Committee” (CEPC). Vice Dean Youmans clarified the three main recommendations:  a) Accountability for the CEPC; b) more explicit language about dual governance; and c) a better description of the role of the CEPC. There will not be more than six members, and the chair will be appointed for two years. Members will appointed on a staggered basis, with appointment lasting two years with one allowable renewal. The members will be liaisons to the clinical departments. The Dean of Pharmacy shall be a permanent guest. The committee is charged with direct oversight.

Council members expressed concern the proposal did not include representation from each of the School’s departments. Vice Dean Youmans explained that most departments will be involved in curricular planning, so this is really not an issue. A new Curricular Oversight Committee is being developed for the new curriculum; whose membership will be chosen based on expertise and will not necessarily be representative, unlike the CEPC. Faculty representation is more important for the CEPC. There must be a clear distinction between the administrator of the curriculum and the faculty role on the CEPC. This committee is an important governance component for the current curriculum, but stronger oversight is needed at the departmental level for the current curriculum. Members suggested departmental subcommittees that could report up to the CEPC as one way to strengthen oversight (although in the new curriculum the departmental structure will go away).
ACTION: Recommendation to amend bylaws to include integration of the departments into the new CEPC (e.g., department chairs and/or their designees).
M/S: Macdougall/Guglielmo

ACTION: Accept draft amendments with recommendations, and present 2\textsuperscript{nd} draft at May Council meeting
The revised bylaws will go to full Pharmacy Faculty meeting in June for approval.
